Legion Reception To New Citizens Largely Attended

Speech Prepared by Commissioner Mull Not Needed at Reception to New Citizens—Exercises Were Very Impressive and Patriotic.

The first annual reception to new citizens of the United States of America by the city of Kingston under the auspices of the local post, American Legion, at the high school Monday evening was an example of what the American Legion stands for. The committee on Americanism and Education arranged for the meeting at the high school auditorium and to it invited the naturalized citizens of Ulster county who have become citizens during the past two years. All naturalized citizens were extended a welcome as well as the general public, but the reception was especially tendered to those who had become citizens during the past two years.

For the reception the committee selected one of the days which was specially fitting for such an event. Washington's birthday. That the work along this line which the members of the American Legion are attempting to do was fully appreciated was shown by the large attendance Monday evening. The auditorium was comfortably filled when at 8 o'clock the overture "Flag of Truce" was played by the high school orchestra under the direction of C. R. Spaulding.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Ignatius J. Bialydy, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Delaware avenue, Miss Evelyn Gollup sang "America" and the audience joined in with little Miss Gollup in singing the first verse after the solo portion by Miss Gollup.

Purpose of Reception. Conrad J. Heiselman, chairman of the committee under which the meeting was arranged, presided throughout the evening and in his opening remarks stated the purpose of the meeting. He said that the Legion planned to give a reception each year to the newly admitted citizens of the county. He welcomed those in attendance at the reception and congratulated those who had come from a foreign land and selected by choice the United States of America as their future home.

He urged them to take with them all the good things of their native country, but to leave behind them all the bad things. He urged them to take with them all the good things of their native country, but to leave behind them all the bad things.

Urged to Obey Laws. In speaking of the laws of the country he urged the new citizens to attempt to obey the laws. There are laws which all did not approve of since they were laws he urged them to obey them and if some of the laws were bad he urged them to try to change them.

Mayor Block's Welcome. Mr. Heiselman then introduced Mayor Block, who welcomed the new citizens on behalf of the city of Kingston.

Mayor Block said that no more important day could have been chosen than George Washington's birthday on which to welcome the new citizens of the country. He said that the new citizens of the country are the backbone of the country and that it is the duty of every citizen to help them.

Troops Sent to Non-Union Mines

Three Companies of National Guardsmen Despatched to Evansville, as Precaution Against Trouble Expected at Reopening of Non-Union Mines.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 23.—Three companies of national guardsmen from a trio of Indiana cities under command of Major Louden Harriman, executive officer of the Seventy-sixth Indiana infantry brigade, arrived here early today prepared to cope with the mine situation if local officials find themselves unable to handle it.

The troops were dispatched here during the night by Adjutant General William H. Kershner as a precautionary measure to avoid trouble, admittedly expected with the re-opening of the non-union mines in the southern Indiana coal fields, nearly all of which have been shut down since the series of sporadic riots a week ago.

The guard units included a full chemical warfare company of Indianapolis and Greensburg detachments and an airplane squad from the national guard headquarters at Kokomo, the airman to act as scouts. The two infantry units carried a full supply of chemical weapons and rifles. A large quantity of tear gas bombs was available for use, if needed.

Six other companies were ready within a radius of twenty-five miles of the coal fields for instant service in the event any emergency arose. Ten mines in Vanderburg and Warren counties were operating on a non-union basis before the recent riots that followed efforts of union men to unionize the mines resulting in the closing of all except two of the mines. These two—the Crescent and Sunnyside mines on the outskirts of Evansville—were enabled to continue under protection of heavily armed sheriffs, deputies and police.

Nine of the ten non-union mines planned to be operating in full swing this morning and it was in anticipation of trouble incident to the resumption of work that the troops were sent.

Three More Cars Of Coal Received

A coal train of fifteen cars—the first train of that size to reach Kingston since early last fall—arrived in Kingston Monday evening, over the Ulster and Delaware railroad from Oneonta, where it had been transferred from the Delaware and Hudson railroad.

Of the fifteen cars, three were consigned for Kingston, one car of store coal and two cars of chestnut. The dealers who received them were the Kingston Coal Company, two cars, one each for the Thomas street yard and the O'Hara yard, and one for Walts & Tammany.

The remaining twelve cars were switched to the West Shore railroad, and taken to the West Point Military Academy to which they were consigned. They contained sizes smaller than pea coal, for which the furnaces at the Military Academy are adapted.

Fire Ruins Bay Ridge Sanitarium

Fifty Patients Escape From Fire Which Destroyed Brooklyn Sanitarium—Three Babies Born Following Removal.

New York, Feb. 23.—Fire today destroyed the Bay Ridge Sanitarium in Brooklyn, nearly fifty patients and staff attendants making their escape from the burning building, with the aid of firemen.

A patient was on the operating table when the fire was discovered. But the surgeon calmly finished the operation and removed the man to the street with the assistance of his nurses.

Many maternity cases were in the sanitarium and three babies were born during the excitement following removal of the patients to the nurses' home next door.

Phantom Killer Details His Acts

Frank Carter, Confessed Sniper, Is a Victim of Paralysis—Killed Doctor Because He Was Refused Money.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 23.—Dr. F. S. Lovely, who examined Frank Carter, Omaha's confessed phantom killer, this morning said the man was a victim of a social disease. Carter would not live long and will go insane before he dies, said Dr. Lovely. Clever in his plan to throw police off the trail while he terrorized Omaha as "the phantom sniper," Frank Carter, 46, of Ackley, Iowa, was today regretting his careless-ness in retaining the leather jacket which led to his capture yesterday afternoon at Bartlett, Iowa.

In a statement covering more than a score of pages, the man held for the deaths of two men, the serious wounding of a third, the frightening of a girl when he shot through a window into a drug store, and the terrorizing of two cities for many nights, detailed his shooting and county attorney.

The killing of Dr. A. D. Seales, according to the statement, was because the physician would not give him money; William L. McDewitt, a dairyman, was shot to death on a street two weeks ago because Carter, his statement said, feared McDewitt was giving for the shooting in Council Bluffs of Ross Johnston, railroad detective.

Carter fired into various homes and the drug store, the statement said, so police would confine their search to one neighborhood until he got clear of Omaha. In this he was successful.

Carter said terrorizing was the climax of a "career of crime."

Oppose Housing Relief Proposal

Governor's Plan Believed Unconstitutional by G. O. P. Leaders—Plan Calls for Three New State Agencies, Including State Housing Bank.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Republican leaders of the legislature today were making a careful study of Governor Smith's housing relief proposal, with every indication they would oppose it on the ground that it was not constitutional.

Senator Knight, Republican leader of the upper house, said the Republicans strongly favored housing relief legislation, but that he personally doubted the constitutionality of the governor's proposal.

In a special message to the lawmakers, the governor said that seventy per cent of the state's population needed better and cheaper housing.

The governor's housing measures were introduced by Senator Downing and Assemblyman Bloch, Democratic leaders of the legislature.

Under the governor's proposal, three new state agencies—a state housing bank, a state housing board and limited dividend housing companies—would cooperate to build cheaper and better homes.

The limited dividend companies would be privately owned and would build and operate the tenements. The housing bank and the housing board would have the power of condemnation so that whole blocks of tenements in Greater New York, or in any other large city, could be demolished at one time to make room for new tenements.

Governor Smith told the lawmakers he believed his suggestion would result in the erection of new tenements, the rooms to rent from $9 to $12.50 per month. The governor said at least 10,000 four-room apartments were urgently needed in New York city. The executive stressed the point that his plan would not involve an expenditure of any public funds, but would be an inducement for private capital to invest in dwellings with limited incomes.

The governor declared that the emergency rent laws which recently were extended for another year, were merely an expedient which can offer no permanent relief. He declared the time has come when the state must take a hand in solving the pressing housing problem.

"I have no fear of the ultimate success of this plan," he said, "and I am confident that the people of this state will be satisfied with limited return upon their investment if they can feel that they are helping to solve the housing problem of the city."

In a report submitted to the legislature in Governor Smith's housing and regional planning committee, it was pointed out that the location of tenements in New York city, reported as a public nuisance in 1925, are all located in residential districts.

Auto Accidents Fatal to 123,500 Here Since 1917

In 1925 Statistics Show 24,000 Victims, an Increase Over 1921—Penal Sentences Suggested in Legislative Remedies.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Automobile accidents have cost the United States 123,500 lives since 1917—more than were killed in the World War—according to statistics made public today by the department of commerce.

On the 1925 death list were 24,000 victims, 2.5 per cent greater than in 1924. Unless emergency measures are taken to check a menace that has grown annually since the automobile became the principal means of transportation this year's fatalities will show another increase.

The automobile fatalities made up about fifteen per cent of the total deaths due to accidents of all kinds in 1925. There were about five deaths to every 1,000 registered automobiles.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has a number of experts at work in cooperation with committees of the conference to devise methods of restoring pre-war safety on automobile streets and highways.

Responsibility for a part of the fall down in traffic law enforcement is laid at the door of municipal and state courts through their failure to assess heavy jail sentences against flagrant violators.

Laws Inadequate. Government officials, however, consider the present laws entirely inadequate to meet what was termed by Hoover a "national emergency."

Included in the suggested legislative remedies are the following:

1. State laws providing penalties to persons convicted of driving while intoxicated and for flagrant cases of reckless driving.

2. Uniformity of state and municipal traffic laws to eliminate widespread confusion among motorists arising from complexity and variations in regulations.

3. Establishment of a federal commission for the preparation of model traffic laws.

4. Compulsory jail sentences for persons convicted of traffic violations which endanger life.

Thirty-three of the 73 cities reported decreases in 1924 and 27 in 1925. In both years fatalities were cut in Syracuse, N. Y.

Provide Hospital For Scarlet Fever

Under authority conferred on him by the board of health, Dr. Daniel Connolly has made arrangements for taking over one of the buildings owned by the Dr. C. O. Sahler Sanitarium for the care of a scarlet fever patient whose case was reported to the board of health, and the patient was removed to the place today in charge of two nurses who will remain until recovery is certain and all danger of communicating the disease is past.

The buildings secured by the board of health is one of the numerous buildings owned by the Sanitarium which are scattered over a wide area. It is completely equipped for the care of one or more patients and the patient and two nurses will be comfortably housed there.

The arrangement is only temporary but was deemed necessary at this time. Whether the health board may later take up the question of establishing a permanent hospital for the care of contagious and infectious cases has not been determined.

The city for a time had a contagious hospital when it took over and converted the old School No. 5 on one of the hills bordering on the Wilbur road during the smallpox epidemic a number of years ago. After the epidemic subsided, the hospital continued to be used as required for infectious and contagious cases, but gradually fell into disuse as such cases almost completely disappeared, and finally the old hospital was destroyed by fire of unknown origin.

Gunmen Kill Two St. Paul Cops

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 23.—Jumping a score of bullets into their victims while they lay helpless with wounds, two gunmen escaped in an automobile today after shooting down and killing two St. Paul policemen, John Schultz and Fred A. Johnson.

Vera Receives Many Offers

Countess May Be Admitted Without Restriction and Play Leading Role in Her Play "Ashes"—Hearing Postponed.

New York, Feb. 23.—Indications pointed today to a complete reversal of the government's attitude toward the Countess of Cathcart and her moral turpitude and in a way explained the unexpected decision to admit her to this country on $500 bail.

It is believed that the government will accept the statement of Countess Vera's counsel that in the union in South Africa, where she confesses she lived a year with Earl Craven, moral turpitude is not a crime.

The countess was to have had a hearing today before a federal judge, but the government quickly acceded to the request of Arthur Garfield Hays, her counsel, for postponement for a week.

In the meantime it is deemed probable that there will be a re-hearing before three immigration inspectors at Ellis Island and the countess will be admitted without restriction. In the meantime, the countess is a busy woman. Today she consulted with her New York literary advisers and it is likely her play "Ashes" will be produced here before spring and that she may possibly play the leading role.

She spent the morning in conferences with agents fetching almost as many propositions to act as were offered Red Grange.

Night clubs fairly ache to pay her $2,000 a week to be hostess and to go to Jacksonville where she has no acquaintances except her sketch.

The countess is taking it all as a half joke.

Water Pressure Normal Saturday

Water Department Records Show Normal Condition for Winter Season at Time of Hospital Fire—Reduced Pressure Due to Difference Between Hospital Roof and Street Level.

Records of the Kingston city water department show that the city water pressure just prior to the time the Kingston City Hospital was discovered on fire Saturday was normal for this season.

The reading of the water gauge at the water works department barn adjoining the city hall lot near the hospital showed a pressure shortly before the fire of between 60 and 70 pounds to the square inch. The reading was taken without any idea that the water system was to be put to a first test but was part of the regular routine work of the department.

During the winter season the pressure ordinarily is lower than in summer because a great many householders allow their faucets to remain open during cold weather to avoid the danger of freezing. On extremely cold days more water is allowed to run to waste and consequently the water pressure is lowered still further.

Saturday was a mild day and the pressure was higher than it would have been if there had occurred on a cold day.

To the firemen and spectators who watched the work of the firemen it appeared as if the water pressure was low. After one stream had been turned on the burning building, the pressure was lowered and it was lowered still further when additional streams were turned on. It is for the purpose of giving adequate pressure under such circumstances that the fire commissioners bought pumps and their use is not extraordinary.

There is a difference of about sixty feet between the street level at the Kingston City Hospital and the top of the building from which the firemen fought the flames in the roof, and this difference, according to experts of the city water department, would itself cause a difference of about 20 to 25 pounds pressure per square inch.

Broadway reaches its highest level at the hospital, and the top of the hospital buildings give a level that is exceeded by only a few streets of the city.

Grandparents and Parents Dispute

Subject of Their Differences is Sixteen Year Old Girl Who Prefers to Stay in Kingston Rather Than Live in Jacksonville, Florida, With Her Parents.

Should Estelle Larsson, sixteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Larsson of Jacksonville, Florida, be taken from the custody of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spray of Flatbush avenue, and educated in the Jacksonville schools instead of the Kingston city schools?

That interesting question was presented to Judge Shufeldt in police court today when Estelle was brought into court on complaint of her father.

For nine years Estelle has been living with her grandparents and have provided her with a home and have seen that she attended school regularly. There is no question of behavior involved in the police court proceeding, but simply a dispute for possession of the girl, who is anxious to remain in Kingston. It is possible that the case may reach the Supreme court before the matter is finally determined.

Await Experts' Report on Repair Of City Hospital

Architect and Others Will Examine Thoroughly Before Board of Managers Reach Decision on Rebuilding—Building Must Become Dry Before New Wing Can Be Occupied.

Plans affecting the Kingston City Hospital, its repair and rebuilding and other matters related to it resulting from Saturday's disastrous fire, will be held in abeyance until a complete report is received from Architect George F. Lowe and others who are investigating thoroughly the extent of the damage.

All these matters were informally discussed Monday night at a meeting of the board of managers of the hospital held at the office of Judge James A. Dotts on John street, but at the end of two hours of discussion it was decided that no definite decision could be reached until a complete report is made by those entrusted with the work of investigation, examination, estimating, etc.

It was also felt by the board of managers who attended Monday night's meeting that they should wait until the return of Dr. George F. Chandler, chief of the staff, who has been in Europe with Mrs. Chandler but whose return was expected some time today. The managers felt keenly also the absence of Dr. E. E. Norwood who is in California, both Dr. Chandler and Norwood having been most active in the conduct and management of hospital affairs.

May Use New Building. Without expressing themselves definitely but preferring to wait for the reports of architect and others, the managers of the hospital feel that the four story fireproof addition in the rear of the main building can be placed in shape for occupancy and use within a comparatively short time.

Within the four story addition are situated the furnaces, in which the fire has not been drawn but which have been kept at work constantly; the kitchens and many of the rooms for patients. Damage to this section of the hospital was mostly from smoke and water. The work of cleaning out the rooms is still progressing. It will be necessary, of course, to put painters at work after the cleaning process is ended and the hospital has been thoroughly dried.

Old Building Untenable. The old part of the hospital, with its two wings extending along the Broadway front, can be used for only a few purposes because it was there that the fire centered, the gaping holes in the roof allow the escape of all heated air which would hasten the drying process and expose the interior to wind, rain and snow.

The work of cleaning up is still going forward rapidly in the old part of the hospital, however, and it is expected that this work will be entirely completed by the time the architect and other experts are ready to make their report to the board of managers.

Telephone Re-established. The telephone service in the old office of the hospital has been re-established, and the call will be the same as formerly, 133. This call, however, should not be used for persons who desire to inquire about members of their families who were removed to the Benedictine Hospital. The call 133 is only for business calls connected with matters which are being handled at the old building.

How Insurance Was Divided

The total insurance of $117,000 on the Kingston City Hospital building and their contents will more than cover the loss sustained in Saturday's fire.

Adjusters for the various insurance companies have been busy all day inspecting the premises, and it is not thought there will be much delay in adjusting the loss.

The total insurance was divided among the following agencies:

McEntee Insurance Agency	$21,000.00
Parsons Insurance Agency	13,000.00
DeWitt, Tremper & Osterhoudt	13,000.00
Dulbois & McCausland	11,000.00

Jail 121 Aliens In Chicago Raid

Chicago, Feb. 23.—As the result of a sweeping drive to rid Chicago of mafia warfare, Sicilian terrorists and alien gunners, 121 aliens are in jail today. City police and United States immigration inspectors last night combined to stage the raid which netted the arrests.

Without warning the officials swooped down on the gangster strongholds in the heart of Chicago's Little Italy, and 14 places were raided almost simultaneously. No shots were exchanged.

In the wake of the raid, at least half a dozen gangsters escaped, half dressed, to railroad stations, where they boarded trains for the east. Word has been sent to Buffalo, Philadelphia and New York by local police to have the men seized as they step off the trains.

Italian Beauty Stabbed to Death

New York, Feb. 23.—Miss Marina Collotta, a 19 year old Italian beauty, was stabbed to death today by an unidentified assailant.

The stabbing occurred in the hallway of her home early this morning. She fell across a neighbor's threshold dead.

Police were looking for Arthur Somo Fardina, 29, said to have been her sweetheart.

The girl was going to work and was descending the stairs in her home when a man leaped out of the darkness and stabbed her on the back and left breast.

Richardson, Feb. 23.—Rumania has a cabinet crisis upon its hands today. Premier Traian, following defeat of his party, in municipal elections, has handed his resignation to the king.

There is much conjecture as to the next premier and there are other rumors that the opposition may soon be in a position to bring about a change of government.

STANDARDIZATION.

Referring to our "standardized" buildings, the Boston Transcript says: "One city is like another in this respect. Set down without knowing where, one might suppose one was in Atlanta, Ga., or in Grand Forks, N. D., for any indication that the appearance of the buildings or the streets would give."

The Transcript might have added that American standardization does not stop at buildings constructed according to one pattern. More and more one American town is just like any other in the type of its inhabitants. American standardization, which begins in the public schools, goes straight on toward the production of a people not only glued to the same fashions, customs and amusements but even thinking the same thoughts, or at least giving expression to the same current views. The typical American, a close copy of 98 out of 100 of his countrymen, may almost be described as a machine-made product.

An eminent neurologist was recently heard to say that genius has gone out of America because of this all-dominating standardization. The answer at once suggesting itself is that genius ought to be able to break through this well-intentioned, yet despotism of standardization and insist on being himself, regardless of the more or less derisive criticism of his "standardized" ideas. Perhaps the real genius can and will, if he is not too sensitive, is unduly determined and can succeed in growing the hide of a rhinoceros. But it seems pretty safe to conclude that the impelling atmosphere of American standardization too often kills and wears down extraordinary talent that, given more freedom to go its own way outside of the accepted, well-worn grooves, might be usefully as well as brilliantly productive.

Fortunately there is more freedom of life and action, more chance for the play of individual preference and initiative in our great centers of population. That is the chief reason why genius or talent of the unusual sort treks slightly toward as soon as may be. The atmosphere of American standardization is far more oppressive and despotism in the small towns than in the big. The small town represses an exception; too often it will even ostracize and slander him or her who can not travel always in the required ruts. Only the great capitals of the world display complete willingness to permit the "original" to break and follow his own path. Years ago Sir James Barrie wrote that in the last analysis the real charm of London was revealed in the fact that a man could eat huns out of a bag at a street crossing and nobody would pay any attention to him.

A Department of agriculture estimates give 75 billion as the probable number of birds in the world, about 40 times the number of people. They estimate five billion birds in the United States alone. Birds are mankind's friends. Practically every bird is a fearless, automatic, self-perpetuating "bug-and-worm-killer." Without whose aid the country would soon swarm with insect plagues like those of Egypt in the times of Pharaoh. It is perhaps good business for the nation that can and amuse itself at prices so low that comparatively few people can buy them for bird-killing. There was a time when the household shotgun was desirable, even necessary to all the family. Now the kitchen table is supplied best by the absence of the means to kill the birds that save the crops.

Many customs demanded and our laws decreed that every woman should for modesty and her own convenience should be veiled, there might be some shadow of excuse for the action and attitude of our maternal officials in connection with Lady Calhoun and Lord Curzon. But she thinks now the said attitude and action are stupid and absurd beyond belief. The worst feature of this absurd imperialism is its brutal disregard of the feelings of Lady Curzon who accompanied to this country the husband whose five-year-old nephew she had forgiven and wanted to forget. Little dreaming when she was lost in America that a misadventure of authority would put it, and drag her along with it, upon the front page of the American press.

Six soldiers of the United States army who deal and sixteen others are very ill in Honolulu from drinking bay-rum. Good cheer would merely have aided their digestion and helped to brighten the dull routine of their existence.

That Body of Yours

THE EYES AND THE TEETH.

One of our eye specialists now takes up the fight against retaining infected teeth. He states that the effort to preserve a good chewing service by keeping the natural teeth may seem praiseworthy, but the terrible damage that can be done to the whole system, including the delicate structures of the eye, by infected teeth, is almost beyond belief.

He points out that some time ago the dental and medical professions were anxious to remove infected teeth. Then for a while it was felt that too many teeth were being sacrificed, and less extracting was done. In fact the medical man has lately been content to abide by the decision of the dentist regarding suspicious teeth.

Fortunately the tremendous power of the poison from bad teeth is becoming known, and removal of suspect teeth is now advocated by the leaders in dentistry and medicine. It is long known that these poisons are dangerous, that they can save life, not the teeth.

In his own field, the eye, he points out that nearly all forms of tissue are present, brain, nerve, muscle, blood vessel, and that the poison from teeth can injure any or all of these structures.

The fact that the infection occurs about a tooth without giving pain, is one of the hard things for the patient to understand. He naturally feels that there can't be much wrong or he'd feel more pain and discomfort.

And yet the organisms found about the teeth are of a type that are very dangerous to man, that is when they get into the blood, and are carried about to points in the body, where they can make a successful attack upon the tissues.

This specialist has been able to trace nearly a score of eye ailments to bad teeth. These range all the way from simple things like styes, pox in the eye, and imperfect vision up to actual mental disturbances.

He is spending considerable time trying to discover a method to strengthen up the body's resistance against these organisms. He has in mind using ultra violet rays, perhaps even a vaccine or other method.

Now the point is that infected teeth are dangerous to the health of the entire body. You may not be able to prevent decay or infection of the teeth, but you can prevent infection of the body by having all suspicious teeth removed. Your dentist can now fit you with very satisfactory artificial teeth, that look well and chew well.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

Emma Willard, the educator and author was born February 23, 1797, in Berlin, Conn. She was the daughter of Samuel Hart, who, on his father's side, was descended from Stephen Hart, who was deacon of the first church at Hartford; and on his mother's side from Thomas Hooker, minister of the same church.

Emma Hart was the sixteenth of her father's seventeen children. She was carefully educated by her parents, and at fifteen entered an academy at Hartford, and two years later began her career as a teacher.

She soon obtained such reputation as a teacher, that in 1807, she was offered, one in Massachusetts, one in Vermont and one in New York. She accepted the first one, but soon resigned and went to Middleburg, Vt., and in 1809, married John Willard, a physician who was then United States Marshal of Vermont.

Dr. Willard lost his position and his fortune. His wife had borne him a son, so in 1814 she opened a boarding-school for young women in Middleburg, where she introduced new studies and made many improvements upon the ordinary methods of instruction.

Mrs. Willard wrote many letters to persons of distinction. President Monroe approved her methods of teaching as did John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Governor DeWitt Clinton and others.

A geography prepared by William C. Woodbridge and Emma Willard ran through many editions. Now and then one still finds Mrs. Willard's long popular history of the United States, which was translated into German and Spanish. Daniel Webster wrote to her that he kept it by him as a book of reference. Lafayette praised it for its summary of the Revolution. Supreme Court Justice McLean said: "I find no errors to correct."

Governor Clinton recommended her "Plan for Improving Female Education" in his address to the Legislature in 1819, which passed an act incorporating an institution at Waterford, and, on the governor's invitation, Mrs. Willard removed her school to Waterford, N. Y.

Two years later she was induced to transfer it to Troy, N. Y., where in May, 1821, the famous "Troy Female Seminary" was opened. In 1825 Dr. Willard died, and the entire management devolved upon her. Mrs. Willard continued successfully until 1828, when ill-health compelled her to resign, and she was succeeded by her son, John Hart Willard and his wife.

Mrs. Willard travelled in Europe, where she and her son were the guests of Lafayette and his family. Upon her return she published her "Journal and Letters from France and Great Britain," devoting her share of the proceeds of its sale to the support of a school in Greece, that has been founded mainly by her exertions, for the education of native female teachers. She was supported in this enterprise by her sister, Mrs. Almira Lincoln Phelps, and others.

In 1838 she married Dr. Christopher C. Yates, of Albany, from whom she was divorced five years later, and resumed her former name.

For many years before her death she resided in Troy, N. Y., and directed her energy to the revision of her numerous school-books and to public labors in the cause of higher education. In 1846 she made a journey of 8,000 miles through the western and southern states, addressing teachers' conventions, and, in 1854, attended the World's Educational Convention in London. She is considered the pioneer in the higher education of women in this country, and educated about 5,000 pupils.

Besides her many other works she published a volume of poems, of which the best known is probably "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." On April 15, 1870 Emma Willard died in Troy, N. Y., and a friend of long standing said that she brought to her great work "a mind as clear and comprehensive as the light of noonday, and a spirit as soft and gentle as the shades of evening."

Think of the young girl who grew so excited over the contest between Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr, the teacher who had made herself famous before Jackson and Calhoun came to the unification point, living with her mind clear until the Civil War was over, until the impeachment of President Johnson had passed into history, until General Grant was in the White House.

"Sniper" Operates In New York

New York, Feb. 23.—New York today developed a "mad sniper" and he told that far as one dead and three wounded. All four victims were not down in the streets apparently without cause. No one saw the assailant.

Police believe that some person emulating the western maniac "Happy Jimmie" Barnstorm, 35, was shot and instantly killed.

The shooting took place on the East side and ranged over an area of almost one hundred city blocks. Detectives believe that some mad man started up town and continued on First and Second avenues.

No witnesses were found who had heard the sound of an arm at the time the men fell and it is believed that the Omaha killer, New York's "mad sniper" has mounted a "sniper" on his weapon which apparently is a revolver of heavy calibre.

As detectives were investigating the third mysterious shooting at Carr 29, a subway employee, shot into Bellevue Hospital, two bullets in his back and side. It was said somebody had fired out of the darkness and he was only aware of the flashes. He is not expected to live.

PETTING PARTY BILLCONSIDERED A "JOKE"

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23.—A bill which would have prevented petting parties in automobiles parked on state highways today was a dead issue in the Assembly.

The measure was sponsored by Assemblyman Esmond, Republican of Saratoga. Several Republican assemblymen characterized the bill as a "joke."

Assemblyman Hutchinson, who said he lived 17 miles from nowhere in the Adirondacks, favored the measure.

"I think the petting in the automobiles should seek more privacy and not park on highways," Hutchinson said.

"Don't you think most of the opposition to this bill comes from men who have passed the year when they would enjoy a petting party in an automobile?" asked Assemblyman Stone, Republican of Syracuse.

"I hardly know how to answer you," replied Hutchinson. "As for myself I can say I have not passed the year when I am adverse to a little diversion of this kind."

The Assembly laughed heartily and then killed the bill.

TOMORROW NIGHT—LIVINGSTON'S BARREL OF FUN—
Headline: Glee Will Be Given Away.

LAST NIGHT
on THE RADIO

Fat fryers muzzled the radio more or less last night and western stations were weak. WEAF seemed especially affected by the trying noises.

Bloopers concentrated on WJZ during the American Legion program in the late afternoon and spoiled reception by Wiederhold's singing. There was one persistent case who adjusted his set so that it broadcasted a low but continuous squeal. That kind of interference is caused by people who think a radio should bring in a loud noise, regardless of clarity, and are pleased with sounds like those of a boiler shop in operation. Just a little easing up on the power knob would take out the whistle and give everybody better reception. It is the radio hog who bleeps.

WHAZ had a marvelous dramatization of events during the Revolutionary War in which British officers were invariably hoisterous, blatant and bombastic while Americans were always perfect gentlemen. The Union College Glee Clubs at WJZ were so good that it is unfortunate the time given to coffee advertising was not added to the hour they had.

A man came so frequently under the doctor's manipulations at a London hospital that he made a hobby of collecting himself, in glass jars and bottles. Starting with towels, he went on with molars and such components, until he had filled a shelf with "spare parts" carefully dated and described.

The idea of a will being used as a means to disinherit or totally alter the line of succession without the consent of the heirs, as can be done in many states of this country, except for dowry interest of wife, is comparatively modern—a product of the philosophy of individual liberty of action.

Either you could not get Chrysler delivery at once; or—you were not fully informed on Chrysler performance, quality and value.

In either case, the result is the same. You have been deprived of Chrysler's superior value and performance, and of the other superiorities which are distinctively Chrysler.

Let these Chrysler "58" facts confirm what we say:—

Treat Colds 2 Ways

With ONE Treatment
WHEN rubbed over throat and chest for all kinds of cold troubles Vicks VapoRub does two things at once:

(1) Its ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing, and
(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

This double action of Vicks usually relieves the most stubborn cold over night.

State Park Bill Will Be Passed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The $15,000,000 state park bill will be passed in the Assembly tomorrow. It was acted upon favorably in the Senate last night. It is a compromise in the fight between Governor Smith and the Republican leaders which resulted in a special session of the Legislature last year.

Assemblyman Moore, Republican, Westchester, is sponsor of the bill in the lower house. Senator Thayer, Republican, St. Lawrence, offered it in the Senate.

Under the measure the $15,000,000 will be spent for new state parks and improvements of present parks and parkways by the state council of parks under the supervision of a committee composed of Governor Smith and the Republican chairman of the fiscal committee of the Legislature.

OBOLSKY'S GET LAND.

Vincent Astor Deeds 90 Acres in Rhinebeck.

The return next fall of the Prince and Princess Obolsky who sailed for Europe Saturday on the Aquitania seemed practically assured when it was learned that Vincent Astor, a brother of the Princess, had decided to them ninety-nine acres in Rhinebeck as a site for a summer home. The land is worth about $30,000 and they will erect a residence upon it. The deed was filed Friday in the Dutchess County Clerk's office, where Rhinebeck is located. Under its terms Mr. Astor retains a right of way across the property and the privilege of grazing his cattle on about two-thirds of it.

Before her marriage Princess Obolsky was Miss Alice Marie Astor. She was married in July, 1924, in London and came of age three years ago at which time she received a $5,000,000 trust fund created for her by her father, the late John Jacob Astor. Her brother, Vincent Astor, was her guardian during her minority.

CAPE AND SHAWLS PROVE MOONS TO THE TRAVELLER —FANCY WOOLENS AID ALSO IMPRESSIVE

Capes are heralded as among the greater interests for spring, and many women have not waited until then to rush into this convenient and often very smart garment. The traveler always finds the cape an adjunct. Aboard ship, it offers possibilities which include comfort, but is rarely warm enough for midwinter travel unless as a supplementary garment.

The trip from Europe as well as to it, earlier in the season, testifies to the importance of wool jersey, and also to the importance of novelty wooleens, and of capes—all items mentioned in reports of spring and southern apparel.

Aboard ship one very smart cape was fashioned of an exceedingly soft and bright-steam rug, the dominant ing shades were warm red, gray and a little black, in plaid, of course. The cape is usually fitted well over the shoulders, has slits for the arms, and a long scarf of itself with fringed ends. This particular one was worn with a red angora beret, gray woolen stockings with allover design and rubber-soled deck shoes, making an attractive steamer costume.

The Cape of This Coat of Pastel Green Twill and the Tucked Collar and Sleeves. Are Edged With Fine Soutache Braid of the Same Color. Note Lines the Collar and Shows in an Edge About the Top.

Many of the smartest travel coats now have half-length capes, and the preference is far rather bold designs, and for fur collars which are of such skins as raccoon, opossum or badger. No matter how comfortable most fur coats really do not make smart steamer coats, not even raccoon, or other furs more or less sacred to sports.

Whatever may be the status of the shawl on land, it is indispensable at sea, the shawl after dinner being bright with shawls of all kinds, from the colorful Spanish manton to the unembroidered but heavily fringed Italian shawl, and in one case the newest Parisian conception of a shawl—a plain crepe center with gaily flowered fringes.

Hope Never's Will Add Needed Punch

Ernie Never, Pacific Coast Star.

Ernie Never, all-American football star, college baseball, basketball and gridiron hero, will be the observed of all observers when the Browns gather at their training camp at Tarpon Springs, Fla., late in February. No athlete has broken into the major leagues with more publicity than has attended the signing of Never by Sisler, and the baseball world will be interested in the young athlete's efforts.

Never will have a sympathetic manager. George Sisler, leader of the St. Louis Americans, came to the big leagues straight from college. Sisler thinks highly of the college athlete. He believes that the college training makes the university athlete a better prospect, because he can learn more quickly than the sand-lotter.

Remember Sisler.

Sisler came to the Browns from Michigan university, where he had been a star batter and pitcher. George was a great batter even then. But persons who remember Sisler's debut will be inclined to be patient with Never. George swung at bad balls. He was not a finished batter, but he had the ability, the baseball instinct and in a couple of years he was a star. Even in his case it took a long time to determine his proper place on the field and it was Fielder Jones who finally decided that the young Michigan graduate was a first baseman.

Owner Phil Ball, Business Manager Bill Friel and Secretary Willis Johnson consider Never a great prospect. They consider him only that, however. Baseball always is a gamble and the club was willing to pay high for Never's signature, on the chance that he might develop into another Sisler or Frisch.

A Great Athlete.

Never is a sturdy athlete. He has tremendous speed and persons who have watched him in action on the mound predict that he will rank some day with the best of the right-handers.

While his greatest fame was achieved on the gridiron, his admirers say that if college baseball drew as much attention as football Never would be as well known for his baseball as for his ability as a platoon warrior.

Sisler does not need a great deal of added strength to turn the Browns into a championship team. If Never should deliver as a good pitcher or a hitter, he might add just the needed power. It certainly was a good chance to take.

Sport Notes

Soccer football is played in 40 countries throughout the world.

The Aerial Rocket Club of Baltimore is 65 years old.

The Royal Henley regatta will be held this year June 26 to July 3.

Japanese women have taken up the hockey and are enthusiastic over the sport.

Freddie Thompson, young semi-baseman, has been bought outright from the Pirates by Buffalo.

The Minneapolis association baseball club has purchased Rube Benton, left-handed reliever, from the Cincinnati Nationals.

Johnny Beckman, famous forward of the original Celtics, a wandering basketball team of New York, gets $12,000 for his winter's play.

Zach Wheat was an initial sack awarded until he reported at Shreveport, La., in 1903, and found the position well cared for by "Chick" Randall. He then became an outfielder and was acquired by Brooklyn, where he has played ever since.

Jean Dubon, one-time pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, who has handled a number of minor league teams in recent years, has been signed as pitcher of the Manchester (N. H.) team.

BALDNESS

is caused by dead skin cells and falling hair. Prevent it by timely use of Newbro's Herpicide the quality hair tonic.

Ineffectiveness Blamed for Many Large Scores

Some evidence to support the claim of the ball makers that big scores were due to pitching ineffectiveness rather than to the lively sphere may be found in the records of low-hit games for the season.

The figures show 34 of these battles after July 4, the date set by the manufacturers for the curbing of the batters by the league fingers. These 34 games range from 1 no-hit battle to more than 40 four-hit contests. The total includes both leagues. Less than one-fifth of the number appeared in battles previous to July 4, which is regarded as the half-way mark in the season's schedule.

Tom Davies Selected as Grid Coach at Rochester

Tom Davies, of Pittsburgh, all-American half-back selection in 1918, 1920 and 1921, has been appointed head football coach at the University of Rochester, under contract for three years.

Davies, regarded as one of the greatest stars developed by Glenn Warner at Pittsburgh, will begin his work in March, when he takes over the squad for spring practice. He succeeds Herbert A. Lorenz, who resigned recently after two years with Rochester.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23.—Motor stocks were used as the principal levers of the bullish interests today to pry the market loose from the narrow rut into which it has fallen. Studebaker was whipped up to 60 1/2 while Hudson and General Motors reached high price levels.

Bearish operations against Pan American Petroleum, B. American Woolen, Baldwin Locomotive, Allied Chemical and other speculative leaders produced good results for the professionals. American Woolen broke through to 23 1/2, Pan American lost nearly five points, while Baldwin declined three points to a new low for the year at 6 1/2. Trading in these and other stocks was not in large volume, the market giving the impression of a lack of buying power rather than a heavy influx of selling orders.

Railroad stocks were unusually inactive as also were the copper and oil, though developments in the respective industries were favorable.

Enright Denies Killing Shay

Bath, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Michael Enright took the witness stand in his own defense in county court today and made a complete denial of the charge that he killed Timothy Shay, for which he is being tried for murder, second degree.

He said he met Shay three days before the crime in Corning and asked him to come to the Enright farm to work. Shay was under the influence of liquor, he said, and remained intoxicated the next two days at the farm.

"We had supper together the night of December 5 and then I went to Jesse Shuffelt's farm to see about getting another hired man," the defendant said. "When I came back Shay was gone. I went to bed and the next morning found him dead at the roadside."

Enright's brief story was to be followed by cross-examination by District Attorney Guy Cheney this afternoon.

Thomas F. Rogers, defense counsel, in opening the defense case, talked to the jury for an hour and a half. He declared the state had failed to show a motive for the alleged crime and pointed out that Enright and Shay had been friends for years.

He attacked the coroner's autopsy, declaring it inadequate. He was prepared to prove, he said, that Shay fell off the porch when intoxicated, stumbled to the road in a dazed condition and possibly was hit by a passing automobile.

LAUNCH CRUSADE TO PRESERVE WILD FLOWERS
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Assemblyman Moore, Republican of Westchester, today launched a crusade in the Legislature to preserve wild flowers.

Under a bill which Moore introduced it would be a crime to destroy any plant, shrub, tree or vine of any wild or cultivated trailing arbutus, flowering dogwood, mountain laurel or pink ladies slipper or mosses growing on state lands or public places.

Annual Communion Breakfast of Kingston Council Knights of Columbus on Sunday, February 22—Irish Night on March 17.

The following are some of the doings of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus:

On Sunday, February 14, the first and second degrees were conferred on a large class of candidates. The council is looking forward to the conferring of a major degree in the early spring.

In the evening the council attended a musical vespers at St. Mary's Church. The vespers were sung by the Very Rev. Dean Scully, who is chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Kennedy and Fitzpatrick. An excellent sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Waldron from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary at Esopus. The Fourth Degree Assembly attended in full regalia. The singing was rendered by the Chancel Choir assisted by the K. of C. choir under the direction of Mrs. Leary with Professor Reiser at the organ.

Communion Breakfast.
On Sunday, February 22, at the eight o'clock Mass in St. Joseph's Church, the council will assemble and receive their annual communion. The three choirs are rehearsing for this occasion, St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Holy Name choirs and the K. of C. choir. The body of the church will be reserved for members. Immediately after the Mass the usual communion breakfast will be served in the school hall adjoining the church. The principal speakers at the breakfast will be State Deputy Supreme Knight Daniel A. Toban of Brooklyn and John T. Loughran, L. L. D., professor at Fordham Law School.

State Deputy Toban holds the distinction of being the only man who has served as state deputy more than two terms. He is serving his third term in that capacity and he is also a member of the supreme board of directors. His duties as such keep him closely identified with the doings of the Order and all those who are fortunate enough to hear him on next Sunday will feel proud of their state deputy and also proud of the fact that they are members of the Order.

Professor Loughran is also in great demand as a speaker and Kingston Council is very fortunate in securing him as well as Daniel A. Toban as the principal speakers on this occasion.

St. Patrick's Night.
St. Patrick's night, March 17, at the K. of C. Home at eight o'clock. "A Story Telling of the Old Irish Fairy and Folk Tales," by Seumas MacManus, the Irish writer, lecturer and poet.

All who are acquainted with MacManus's Irish stories, in the leading magazines, or with his books, need hardly be told that he got his knowledge of the wit and humor and poetry and pathos of Irish life at first hand. From his cradle he looked out every day of the rugged mountains and cliffs of wave-bashed Donegal; and he heard the "brogue" "satellites" singing round him the old Gaelic lullabies and listened to the "croonies" and "Shannachie" chant the ancient Irish poems and tell the old legends and tales.

This will be Mr. MacManus's first visit to Kingston, and it is felt that it will prove a real treat and an old-fashioned Irish night.

Mr. MacManus has entertained and lectured in nearly all the leading Universities and Colleges in America. He is a high class man whose services are in great demand. Kingston Council feels extremely fortunate in securing him for St. Patrick's night.

In addition to MacManus there will be other features as the committee is arranging to make this a real Irish night.

COULOMB OFFERED TO THE U. S. AIR FLEET
Washington, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge is expected to announce the construction of a great American air fleet because he believes that to do so would encourage other nations to do likewise, and then lead to a new armament race, he told callers at the White House today.

The president believes that passage of legislation incorporating the recommendations of the Morrow board will remedy most of the shortcomings in the present air establishment.

Flowers-Greb Bout on Friday

New York, Feb. 23.—Several of the boys in the back room either have come into an item of smart information or they have taken to mixing their powder again.

Anyhow, one or two of our leading local minds took occasion today to drop a political hint to the general effect that all might not go well with Harry Greb on Friday night when he steps out in defense of his world's middleweight title against Tiger Flowers, the negro.

Just what signs or portents may have prompted them to fear the worst for Harry, the dependent knoweth not, but the advance facts on the bout are approximately these:

Greb, in any kind of good condition, figures to beat Tiger Flowers the best day the latter ever knew. There is no data available that tends to show that Greb will not be right on Friday.

Flowers, judged on his last showing here, has even less chance against the champion than he would have had fifteen months ago when he was short changed out of the decision.

However, the negro had barnstormed himself silly when last seen here. He has been resting for almost two months, passing up bouts that would have netted him $25,000, which is about twice as much as he will get for fighting Greb. Flowers' manager evidently believes his plan to be something of a "sleeper" for this particular bout.

Against a hard hitter, the Tiger could not be reckoned as being particularly dangerous because he has a weak jaw. But Greb ordinarily has a weak punch, so that's all even. At least, this is the way our friends in the back room figure it.

Greb is still over thirty-one and has been fighting since 1913. He trains little or not at all. Yes, the boys are bound to be right some time.

COLUMBIA LEADS IN COLLEGE BASKETBALL

New York, Feb. 23.—Columbia University stood today as the virtual champion of the 1925-26 season in the Eastern Inter-collegiate Basketball League by reason of its last minute 32 to 29 victory over Dartmouth last night. Columbia trailed early in the game at 12 to 2, but rallied in time to win a late field goal by Norris, a substitute, deciding the issue. The standing today showed Columbia with six victories and no defeats, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Princeton being tied for second place with four victories and three defeats. It still was possible to beat Columbia for the title but the mathematical chance was very slim.

MORGAN-GOODRICH BOUT A SLOW AFFAIR

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 23.—Today Morgan, the world's junior lightweight champion, got a ten round draw here last night with the ex-champion, Jimmy Goodrich.

Goodrich proved himself a safety first puncher to the dissatisfaction of the cash customers from the first round to the finale. In the opening spasm, Tod clipped him with a sharp left to the jaw and from that moment Goodrich enlivened "Strangler" Lewis with his clinching tactics. It was a slow bout.

Legion Reception To New Citizens

ized citizen of 23 years, replied on behalf of the naturalized citizens of Kingston and Ulster county.

Mr. Charchian spoke of his early desire to come to the United States. This desire had been planted by American missionaries all over the world and was bearing fruit. At the early age of 8, Mr. Charchian said he was caught at school singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and from that time on his desire to come to the land of the free rapidly developed. At the time of the Spanish-American War he expressed his faith in America. Although Spain was an old and warring nation he had been confident that America would win. Later he did leave the country, not an easy task at that time, and shortly found himself in New York. Within a week he was making inquiries as to how to become a citizen. He visited the county clerk's office and made inquiries with the result that he soon filed his first papers and when time had elapsed he was made a citizen. He pledged the support and loyalty of the naturalized citizens to the United States and congratulated Kingston Post on the interest taken in the new citizen and in calling the meeting.

Recitation and Music

The next number was William Ryler Page's "American Creed," recited by Raymond Demskie. Oath of Allegiance to the Flag by John Rice with First Class Scout Richard K. Bailey of Troop 10 as flag bearer.

Then followed a selection, "Valse Patricia," by the High School Orchestra.

The speaker of the evening, the Hon. Harry E. Hull, United States Commissioner General of Immigration, of Washington, D. C., was then introduced by former Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr.

Speech Not Needed Here

Commissioner Hull proved to be a very interesting speaker and told of many of the problems which face the immigration authorities of the country. At the opening of his address Mr. Hull stated that he had prepared a speech for the evening but the speech was never to be heard by a Kingston audience unless it was read in print in the papers. The speech was too long and after hearing the portion of the program which had preceded he was sure the speech was not needed in Kingston. He then proceeded to talk in a most interesting manner of various problems which he and his assistants were called on to solve.

Commissioner Hull congratulated Kingston on having such a large and up-to-date Legion Post and also congratulated the city on the fine home which had been presented to the members of the American Legion.

He said that he intended to talk to some extent on "Immigration Laws," a matter which was frequently referred to as a new issue but which was in reality one of the oldest questions known. Immigration was the working out of the law of the survival of the fittest. From time unknown it had been the same problem.

Immigration Law

History shows that a country is made by its immigration. So far back that all record has been lost in the ages there was immigration, peoples traveling from one country to another and there had always been the problem of peoples moving from one place to another. Immigration from one country to another had been a thing which had always taken place and has resulted in a country being overwhelmed by immigrants and transferred into a different nation. The problem is the working out of the survival of the fittest and realizing this situation the United States has given serious study to the situation and the problem calls for even more serious consideration if we as other nations in the past are not to be entirely changed.

In years past our forefathers gave little consideration to immigration and it was not until 1830 that any serious thought was given to the problem. Since that time there had been little done until recently. In 1894, after the Civil War, a bill to encourage immigration was passed. At that time our depleted manhood was a source of worry. It was thought that by immigration the country would be built up. In 1875 on the Pacific coast a movement was started to pass our first exclusion law and some years later the Chinese exclusion law was passed. Again in 1910 our first literacy test law was introduced and after passing Congress was vetoed by President Taft. In 1917 was passed and vetoed by President Wilson much of our present law. This however was returned and passed over the president's veto and became a law. That law Mr. Hull said was not a real test of what is a good citizen. In 1921 was passed our first quota law to fix the basis for a quota of immigrants to be admitted to this country. Again in 1924 was passed our present law. During all of this time none of the former laws was repealed but rather the old law was molded into the new law so that at the present time we have an immigration law which has linked up the laws of century. This is one of the reasons for many of the hardships which are imposed by the immigration law. The present law, Mr. Hull said, is not a harmonious law and in many instances is conflicting. He expressed his wish that some way could be found to carry out the suggestion of Mayor Block which make the union of families possible. Many naturalized citizens are in our country, good substantial citizens, whose families are still in the foreign home-land, excluded from this country and unable to join their husbands and father.

The return entry permit is attacked as unjust. A return permit was issued for the return of the person to this country after a visit to a foreign land and then on return the person found that his return permit was not valid. If we were a permit we should honor it when presented at our cases of entry. It
